Challenges: We administered fewer pregnancy tests than usual this quarter. Several clients came in already noting they did tests at home and did not need another. During October and December we had slightly fewer walk-in hours; October due to the Director being at the grantee meeting rather than in the office, and December due to volunteer shortage with the holidays. We could use more client advisors; three are currently in training.

Comments: We experienced large donations of maternity and baby winter clothing, which really helped our clients. We continue to mail information to local organizations, schools and churches to raise awareness of our services and we continue to target advertising on Facebook and Instagram to reach potential clients.
